COURSE DESCRIPTION

"Every angel’s terrifying"—Rainer Maria Rilke

What gives a poem the power to move us, to haunt us, to leave itself burned in our brains? How can a handful of words create feeling? Are poets magicians, practitioners of dark sorcery? Or is there something more human, more commonly learned through a basic attention to craft? In this introductory class we’ll be investigating poetry, all aspects of it. We’ll be writing poetry, reading poetry, workshopping frequently, and immersing ourselves in the strange orchestration of words. Anyone with a beating heart is welcome.

REQUIREMENTS

Attend every class
Complete assignments on time
3 poems for workshop
Attend 3 readings outside of class
3 page written response to poetry book of your choice (see list)
Written response to every work-shopped piece (1 copy to author, 1 copy to me)
Journal response to 1 poem per week (from assigned readings)
2 revisions to be handed in at the end of the semester (with originals and my comments)

GRADES

You will be graded on your attendance, your participation in class, your journal assignments, and your eagerness to improve. I will grade your development as a writer and the extent to which you are engaging with the material. You will receive an unofficial midterm grade and a final grade for the course. Grades will be roughly imagined as follows:

40% homework / 10% revisions / 50% participation
ATTENDANCE

Attendance in class is mandatory. You are allowed to miss one day of class without it affecting your grade. I expect you to be on time and to complete the assigned readings. Three or more tardies will result in an unexcused absence. It is imperative that you attend all the days of class in which your work is being work-shopped. Failure to do so may result in a failure of the class.

STUDENTS WITH DOCUMENTED DISABILITIES

Students who may need an academic accommodation based on the impact of a disability must initiate the request with the Office of Accessible Education (OAE). Professional staff will evaluate the request with required documentation, recommend reasonable accommodations, and prepare an Accommodation Letter for faculty dated in the current quarter in which the request is being made. Students should contact the OAE as soon as possible since timely notice is needed to coordinate accommodations. The OAE is located at 563 Salvatierra Walk (phone: 723-1066, URL:http://studentaffairs.stanford.edu/oae).

HONOR CODE

The Honor Code is the University's statement on academic integrity written by students in 1921. It articulates University expectations of students and faculty in establishing and maintaining the highest standards in academic work:

The Honor Code is an undertaking of the students, individually and collectively:

1. that they will not give or receive aid in examinations; that they will not give or receive unpermitted aid in class work, in the preparation of reports, or in any other work that is to be used by the instructor as the basis of grading;

2. that they will do their share and take an active part in seeing to it that others as well as themselves uphold the spirit and letter of the Honor Code.

3. The faculty on its part manifests its confidence in the honor of its students by refraining from proctoring examinations and from taking unusual and unreasonable precautions to prevent the forms of dishonesty mentioned above. The faculty will also avoid, as far as practicable, academic procedures that create temptations to violate the Honor Code.

4. While the faculty alone has the right and obligation to set academic requirements, the students and faculty will work together to establish optimal conditions for honorable academic work.

All work must adhere to the University’s policies on academic integrity. Failure to cite work that is not your own constitutes plagiarism.
